Teaching Preschoolers About Money

Information appropriate for parents of children ages 3-6

You can begin teaching your preschooler about money easily by incorporating simple games and routines into the daily activities you already do. Research has shown that preschool is the ideal age to start your child on the road to good money habits. This workshop shows parents how to set ground rules with their child about family finances, spending expectations and the child's financial role in the family. Workshop includes information on how to make a game out of grocery planning & shopping, piggy bank money basics, the kids' basics of savings, having fun doesn't have to cost money and gifts do not have to cost money.
